

Chile

Everything about Chile is good for growing grapes and approximately 118,000 hectares are under vine with a 3:1 ratio of red to white grape varieties. Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot dominate for the reds and for the whites Sauvignon Blanc remains as successful maintaining Chile's reputation as an over-performer in the wine world for producing value for money, good quality wines.

Pinot Noir, Pionero, Viña Morandé, Casablanca Valley

Pablo Morandé was the pioneer (Pionero) of the Casablanca Valley, discovering the unique attributes of the climate and soil. Morandé continue to seek areas that best suit each grape variety, and thus each wine comes from a specific, single valley. Pionero Pinot Noir is from the Casablanca Valley, where the cool climate and sandy soils ensure the development of the fruit's flavour and maturity of the tannins, resulting in a fresh vibrant juicy Pinot, with a touch of oak to add complexity and structure. ## Viña Indómita, Casablanca Valley

Viña Indómita is a dynamic state of the art winery located in the Casablanca Valley in Chile, 80 kilometres from the Capital Santiago and 40 kilometres away from the port of Valparaiso. It is responsible for the production of the Alta Baliza, San Elian and Villa Rosaura range of wines. The grapes used for the production of these wines come from a complex mixture of vineyards from several areas along the fertile Central Valley, nestled between the Andes mountain range and the Pacific coast.

The Chief Winemaker, Roberto Carranca who has worked for the winery for over 10 years is extremely passionate about winemaking and maintains his philosophy of intervening as little as possible in the production process and allowing a more natural course to develop. He ensures that the health of the fruit is impeccable by harvesting only at optimal maturity from areas where the soils are of rich diversity to deliver these wines, which are young, well balanced and full of fresh fruit.

Carmenère, Urmeneta, Central Valley

Intense violet in colour, with spiced aromas of green pepper and some tobacco, whilst still remaining very fruity and fresh. A gentle, velvety wine on the palette with a medium body, tannins and a very pleasant finish. It provides the consumer with an excellent first impression. (C) 13.5%vol.
