South of France

Provence and Languedoc-Roussillon create the largest wine producing region in the world, producing five times that of Australia and encompassing a great diversity of soils, grape types and wine styles. It is also the oldest grape growing region of France with many vineyards dating back to Roman times.

Honoré de Berticot, IGP de l'Atlantique

Born within Côtes de Duras appellation, Berticot wine cellar is its ambassador. The wine-growers have chosen the name of the place, where the wine cellar has been established. Berticot has become a reference, quality guarantee thanks to its methods, monitoring and equipment of wine-growers.

A know-how of men and women, a subtle mixture of tradition, skills and passion...

The wine cellar undertakes to accompany the wine-growers in monitoring of their vineyards. Consequently, this commitment exceeds guaranteeing high quality wines to their customers.

From typical Sauvignon to Merlot, full of its valleys' sun, Berticot draws on the rich ancestral and clay-limestone soils.

Our fruity Merlot has a nice ruby colour, and the nose is spicy with red berry notes. In the mouth the cherry aromas are intense with soft and smooth tannins. You can enjoy this wine by itself, maybe with a sirloin steak or a cheese platter. (C) 13.5%vol.
